ROMAN WARSHIPS & NAVAL MATTERS

Thu 6 Jan 10am

The importance of the Navy in the expansion of Rome during the republic and the empire barely warrants a footnote. Jim Cocker will introduce the warships, the weaponry and the sailors and marines to show that it was a vital and innovative arm of the Roman state for over six centuries.

EMPRESSES OR MURDERESSES

Thu 20 Jan 10am

The wife of a Roman emperor was meant to be above suspicion but some of them clearly were not. Mary Crawford will look at some of the most powerful women in the Roman Empire who would stop at nothing to fulfil their ambitions. But have they been treated unfairly by history? Were they really murderesses?

AJAX AND TECMESSA

Thu 3 Feb 10am

Ajax is one of Homer's superheroes, second only to Achilles. His strength was legendary but his intellect less so. His partner, Tecmessa, features in his tragedy and is one of the most significant women in the Greek canon. Madness, brutality, hubris, love and death: the story has it all. Adrian Deeny is our speaker.

WRITTEN IN STONE - INSCRIPTIONS IN THE ROMAN WORLD

Thu 17 Feb 10am

Inscriptions provide a solid link between the written word of the historian and the physical evidence from archaeology. They speak for the inhabitants of the Roman world, high and low, ruler and ruled, enslaved and free. Professor Val Maxfield will look at a selection of texts from across the Empire.

All Tickets £3.50, 10am start for coffee in The Flavel

Tickets are available in advance and on the day (ZOOMERS need a ticket before 8am). Everyone will receive Zoom Login details before 10am on the day of the Lecture.

STEVE OGGELSBY CALM SEAS AND ANCIENT TREES

from 29 November

An exhibition of landscape photography celebrating the timeless beauty of South Devon. Connecting to nature in the special way that photographing a moment in time allows is a passion of local photographer, Steve Oggelsby. Our landscape can be easily spoiled but there are still parts of our county that appear untouched by our presence. Exploring rugged moorland, dramatic coastlines and ancient woodlands have resulted in a stunning series of images that capture a unique view of Devon.

PETER BLAKESLEY WHAT A WONDERFUL WORLD

21 February - 19 March

'Art is in us all; we just have to develop it, practice it, and nurture it. As children we all have that capability, but we don't always follow the heart. Art is limitless, and this is perhaps why I continue to experiment with mediums, and not restrict myself to one type, or style, of painting. Light and suggestion have superseded realism in my paintings, and I continually strive to achieve this, and to reflect the natural beauty of Devon.'
